

Marie Maxey Foundation Annual Report for 2022

Date Prepared: January 24, 2023

Review of Foundation Finances – During 2022, we received $7,304 in donations from 14 donors and provided $4,500 in scholarships,¹ $2,700 for a preventative healthcare program in Honduras,² student support (gift cards) - $250, administrative costs of $420.³ Total expenditures in 2022 were $7,620. Administrative expenses were 5 percent of total expenditures. The specifics for the donations and grants are provided in the following sections of this report.

² Preventative Healthcare Program – Expenditures included (1) blood pressure measuring machines ($250), (2) AED/CPR equipment ($908) & training ($275), (3) shipping to Honduras ($300), (4) audio-visual public outreach – Hearts United ($500), AED/CPR training ($178), and (6) youth outreach – 250 coloring books with crayons ($289). The total for the preventative healthcare program was $2,700.

³ Administrative costs included website registration and annual fee ($300) and Constant Contact subscription ($120).

Preventative Healthcare Program in Honduras – The Marie Maxey Foundation is partnering with Colleagues in Care/World Hypertension Action Group (WHAG) and Harper Hill Global to design and implement a hypertension prevention program in San Luis, Santa Bárbara, Honduras. The first phase of this program is public outreach to educate citizens on proper health and nutrition actions needed to prevent hypertension in adults with a special emphasis on pregnant women. A secondary goal is to provide equipment and training to local health workers to treat acute outcomes of CVD (i.e., heart attack). The original trip report can be found here

Honduras is the Central American country with the highest Cardiovascular Disease (CVD) mortality rate. A 2019 study, "Cardiovascular risk assessment in the resource limited setting of Western Honduras: An epidemiological perspective" found hypertension prevalence at 49.7% for men and 47.7% for women in Santa Rosa de Copan province. In assessing all factors associated with increased risk of CVD, the study “... revealed an alarming proportion of high-risk patient test scores ... pointing to a vast population of undiagnosed and untreated or inappropriately treated population for cardiovascular disease.”

Relationship to Irregular Migration: The International Organization of Migration (IOM) World Migration Report for 2022 highlights the inability of potential migrants to effectively mitigate risk (economic, social, health, etc.) in their home country as a factor in triggering irregular migration.

Trip Report
Visit to Health Facilities
San Luis, Santa Barbara, Honduras
April 3 – April 5, 2022

Summary: Ana Julia and Michael Maxey of the Marie Maxey Foundation met with local health officials and the mayor of San Luis, Santa Barbara on April 4 - 5, 2022. Accompanying the Maxeys was a local medical doctor, Dr. Judy Funes.¹ A list of the persons interviewed is attached. The purpose of the discussions was to assess the feasibility of starting a preventative healthcare program in San Luis aimed at identifying and helping people deal with hypertension. Local officials agreed that this type of program is needed and can facilitate ongoing healthcare programs in the municipality. The decision was made to develop a proposal to share with the foundation board and request approval of funding for a pilot preventative healthcare program in conjunction with Colleagues in Care (a U.S. based non-profit focused healthcare).

Dr. Judy Funes, Ana Maxey and Michael Maxey visited Clinic Luz y Vida and were given a tour by Maribel Aguilar who is a senior nurse at the clinic. Ms. Aguilar provided an overview of how patients are received, the types of services provided, and the fees charged for services. The facilities in the clinic consist of delivery rooms, operating facilities, a laboratory and different types of equipment including a ultrasound machine. The clinic appears well stocked with medicine and supplies. Basic medical services are provided and periodic medical missions provide surgeries. A new wing to the clinic was recently completed and it is being equipped to expand operating facilities, to provide dental care, and other services.

The clinic was started in 1978 and has been expanded over the years. Approximately 25 people per day are attended to in the clinic. A fee is charged for all service and medicine provided (while greatly reduced from what would be charged in San Pedro Sula, the fees help fund the continuation of services). We saw two women leaving the clinic after having given birth earlier in the day.

The clinic has modern facilities to host medical missions to provide surgeries, eye care and other types of medical services. There are also lodging facilities for medical mission staff.

Mentoring Program at Bryant High School – Robert St. Thomas, a board member of the foundation, designed a financial literacy course for the Achievement, Integrity and Maturity program (AIM) to present during the latter part of 2022 and into 2023. The first presentation was made in November 2022 – a broad overview of financial planning. This is a program that we can continue during 2023. A key goal is to help these young people transition into part-time jobs and start implementing basic financial planning (budgeting, debt management, saving, etc.). As part of this program we want to help students cover basic needs as they move toward employment – gift cards were provided during Christmas 2022 to cover some of those needs (5 - $50 Wal-Mart gift cards were provided to the AIM program participants).

AIM Program (Achievement, Integrity, and Maturity) Program
Fairfax County Public Schools (FCPS)

The Fairfax County Public School (FCPS) system has 198 schools and centers with over 180,000 students in grades prekindergarten through 12. Approximately one out of four students is economically disadvantaged²; one student in seven is classified as students with disabilities, and one in five is an English Learner. FCPS students are 37 percent White, 27 percent Hispanic, 20 percent are Asian, and 10 percent are Black. The school system is one of the-largest employer in Virginia, with 24,839.2 full-time employees and an FY 2022 Approved Budget of $3.4 billion is primarily funded by Fairfax County (> 60 percent) with additional contributions from the Commonwealth of Virginia and federal government. More than 85 percent of the budget goes toward instruction, and the average cost per student is $16,505.³ For students facing disciplinary action FCPS provides an “alternative school” education option that includes small class size, more attention to individual needs of students dealing with social and emotional issues, and a generally supportive structure to build honesty, trustworthiness and mutual respect. An important aspect of this support mechanism is the Achievement, Integrity and Maturity (AIM) Program serving students who have been referred by the Division Superintendent due to serious violations of the code of conduct outlined in the Student Rights and Responsibilities (SR&R)

What is the Achievement, Integrity, Maturity (AIM) Program? The AIM program exclusively serves students (grades 7-12) who have been referred by the Hearings Office, School Board and individualized education program team. These students have been deemed a safety and security risk to other students and might otherwise have been unable to continue to work toward graduation.

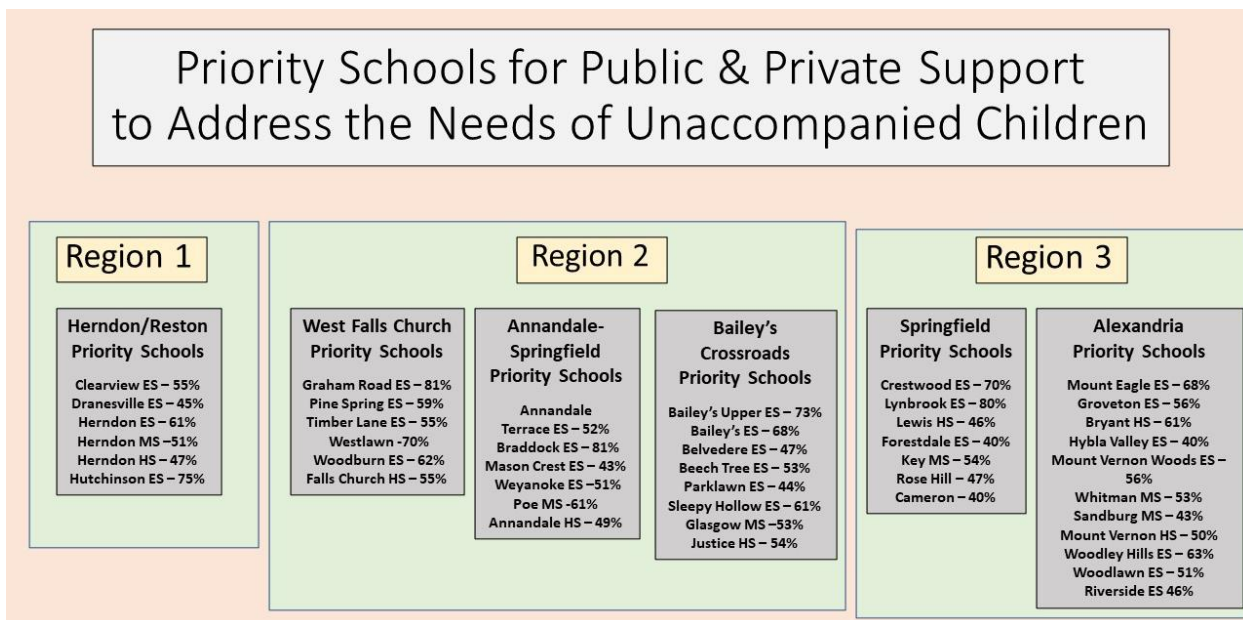

Wal-Mart Gift Cards

Meeting Student Needs: An eleventh-grade student from Falls Church, Virginia was provided support to augment his part-time work at a local restaurant so he could share Christmas gifts with his family. A tenth-grade student from Falls Church, Virginia, originally from Guatemala, is attending school every day and trying hard to improve his English reading and writing skills. He was provided funds to help his father. A ninth-grade student from Alexandria, works hard at school each day – he was provided support to help his family.

Treasurer's Report – The 12/31/2022 balance in the foundation bank account was $5,744. A complete listing of the foundation's bank statements by month is available upon request. Total expenditures and liabilities for 2022 amounted to $7,620 while total donations to the foundation from our donors during the same period was $7,304. The balance on hand at the end of December 2022 reflects the original corpus ($3,000) that was used to establish the foundation plus remaining funds from the previous year. Our intent is provide approximately the same number of scholarships in 2023 as we did in 2022 and to expand our activities in preventative healthcare.

Proposed Activities for 2023

Scholarship Program – Scholarships will be provided to Latino youth in Fairfax County public schools with the highest percentage of students from the Northern Triangle (see listing below). Current focus is Bryant High School but we hope to expand to other schools that have a critical need for support in mentoring Hispanic youth. The schools listed below were identified in our analysis of placement of Unaccompanied Youth in Fairfax County Virginia. See our analysis at <https://www.maxey.info/helping-unaccompanied-children>.

Mentoring Program – Using this same list of priority schools, we want to try to help more youth obtain a part-time job, gain budgeting and money management skills, and plan for a better future. The efforts will be concentrated on Bryant High School but we have already started having meetings with other mentors to learn what they are doing and to determine how we can create synergy to have a greater impact.

Healthcare Program – We are planning a trip to Honduras at the end of February 2023 to finalize the design of the preventative healthcare initiative. We have shipped medical equipment and training material to Honduras and we will work with local clinics to design a public health outreach program to identify and treat high blood pressure. We are also taking a state-of-the-art AED (defibrillator) and Spanish language training equipment so that a unit can be maintained in San Luis, Santa Barbara, Honduras, to treat heart attack victims.
